DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments filed 9/19/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Art Unit: 3636

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kammerer (U.S. Patent No. 6,655,738).

Kammerer teaches the structure as claimed (See Figures 1-8B and specification).

Remarks

Kammerer has all the features, or structures of the present invention including a "locking strut" in "pneumatic spring 41". According to the specification of the present invention, the "locking strut" is 64, a piston cylinder assembly (see Figures 1-4), which is what "pneumatic spring 41" is. Also, Applicant does not give detail or define any specific structure of the "locking strut" in the claims. A "locking strut" could be any number of structures since Applicant does not disclose in the claims how the "locking strut" locks and retains the seat assembly in any location. Furthermore, Applicant needs to positively claim or define the mechanics or interconnection between the "locking strut" and the other structures of the seat assembly that provide the locking capabilities of the "locking strut". So as it stands, Kammerer has all of the features as defined in claim 1 since the "pneumatic cylinder 41" of Kammerer extends between a first end coupled to said front support structure and an opposite second end coupled to said rearward end of said seat cushion frame.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
